

ABSTRACT OF DISCLOSURE

A natural health integrated medical program and method for coordinated prescription of unregulated therapeutic substances in a supervised medical environment, wherein the unregulated therapeutic substances, derived from natural products, are initially documented and qualified as a therapeutic option to traditional prescription and over-the-counter medicines. The implementation of the program and method of qualification and prescription of unregulated therapeutic substances is performed within the context of a mainstream medical care environment comprising a Medical Care Entity, wherein patients within a given system, elect to participate in the program under the supervision of the medical professional responsible for their care. Upon initial successful completion of the program, the patient is empowered, with the medical professional's approval, to adopt the unregulated therapeutic substances for treatment of his/her illness or condition.

J:\Patent2001\P0108003.3470c002A.CIP.081401.doc